

WOOD SUGGESTS GIVING HAWAII'S BUILDING AWAY

Plan is to Have Exposition Authorities Maintain It as An Aquarium

Wireless information received today by Wade Warren Thayer, secretary of the Territory, from H. P. Wood, commissioner at the exposition, states that the Hawaii building if left standing must be either sold or given to the exposition authorities, as these men are planning to purchase the land on which the building is situated. His message says:

"Exposition authorities are planning to buy the land occupied by the Hawaii building, precluding all other purchasers. If not sold to the exposition the building must be torn down and removed at once. It may be possible to get a small amount of money from the wreckers. The large Massachusetts building has just sold, bringing $250. I believe we should lose no time in making the transfer to the exposition. The gift would be heartily appreciated by San Francisco."

That the Hawaii building at the Panama-Pacific exposition be turned over to the exposition management free is a suggestion made in the form of a wireless message received yesterday by Mr. Thayer from Mr. Wood, which follows:

"If Hawaii will donate its exposition building to the exposition, the same will be maintained as a public aquarium. I would recommend that the building and all of its contents excepting relief maps, paintings, moving picture outfit, and furniture be given. It will mean a splendid advertisement for Hawaii."

To Mr. Wood's message Secretary Thayer replied, also by wireless, stating that certain legal points stand in the way of making the gift, but requesting that action be deferred if possible till spring.

"The legality of such a donation of the building is uncertain," explained Secretary Thayer in his message. "Endeavor to defer action until spring when I can go to California. In the meantime please canvass thoroughly for possible buyers. Ascertain if the exposition would lease the building at a nominal rental until the next legislature convenes, when a donation may be arranged."

This nominal rental, as the secretary explains, may be a dollar or a postage stamp, but it must be something. By the act which created the fair commission, the members of that body are instructed that proceeds from any sales must go to the territory and the territory also owns the building if not sold. Until this act is changed the secretary can do nothing but hang on to the building or sell it. He cannot give it away.

BERNDT EXPECTS TOURIST TOTAL TO BE 15,000

The island trip," says Mr. Berndt.

"Big preparations are being made on the coast to take care of traffic, and with efforts expended by Hawaii many of those visiting the Pacific slope will be induced to come here."

"I say without hesitation that the 1915 tourist crop will be more than 15,000. In general, also, it will be a higher class of travelers, many people having refrained from coming this year because of the crowded conditions on the coast developed by the fair."

"Most of the people will remain for 30 days after arriving here," Berndt continues, "instead of going back when the steamer returns to the coast. All first-class reservations for January and February have been sold."

"During the Carnival period, when the Great Northern will remain over a week, the company has offered to throw open the boat for hotel services if necessary arises. This will not be done, however, unless the demand calls for it."

Mr. Berndt says that Hawaii's problem now is to furnish greater hotel accommodations for all time to reap the benefits of the tourist trade that is now resulting from much advertising.

"Each agent in the many offices of the Great Northern Company has been instructed to boost Hawaii," he says, "and it is hard to say how far-reaching the results of this free advertising will be."

KAHUKU SLICES $30,000 MELON

An extra dividend of 60 cents per share, totaling $30,000 on the 50,000 shares outstanding, was declared this morning by directors of the Kahuku Plantation Company, payable on November 30. The company is capitalized at $1,000,000, with stock at $20 per share. Last sale on change was at $16, with offerings today at $17 per share.

The market on change continues quiet, with price variations covering only a small range—mere fractions in most instances.

COCAINE HABIT MORE WIDESPREAD IN HONOLULU THAN BOOZE OR OPIUM

Wide Distribution Effected and Many Hawaiian and Oriental Girls Debauched

they tear their hair and sometimes go crazy. They beg and cry for the drug—for just one more 'sniff of the snow.' They have got to have it, and its effect is far more damnable than that of opium or liquor."

Thus spoke "Jim" Haley, collector of internal revenue, today, in describing the unbreakable hold taken by cocaine on men and women who are habitual users of the drug, which drug, the revenue officers have evidence tending to show, is being sold in enormously large quantities to persons in Honolulu, both civilians and soldiers.

Allegations made to the revenue office and which are now under investigation, says Mr. Haley, are that the users of the drug are taking it into local Hawaiian and Asiatic homes where it is "fed" to young girls who finally become the victims of debaucheries.

"A young Hawaiian girl was picked up in the street recently," declared the collector, "and it was found that she had become addicted to the use of cocaine. She said that a man had given it to her. She was asked why she had gone with this man."

"He has got good medicine that makes us feel fine," she answered. "And," concluded Mr. Haley, "it is a quick step from the first sniff of the drug until the final debauchery."

Lid Lifted Last Night

The lever of federal authority gave the lid to the alleged cocaine ring, a further pry last night when Marshal J. J. Smiddy, accompanied by Ralph Johnstone of the revenue office and other revenue officials, took into custody Charles E. Bradley, who has been operating a popcorn stand in King street near Alakea, and Louis Belliveau, husband of "Princess Theresa" Belliveau, who are now in Oahu prison pending an investigation by the federal authorities. While no actual arrests have been made an investigation will be conducted to determine whether these men are connected with the alleged "cocaine ring," either by importing the drug, selling it or assisting in sales.

"This, however, is only a scratching of the surface," said Collector Haley. "This office, as well as other federal officials, are determined to fight to the last ditch and work day and night in an effort to wipe out this ring. If there be one. We want to prevent these promiscuous sales. We want nia, Mrs. Anderson and Dr. J. B. Frankenhimer.

"Financial conditions are picking up, not only in the East, but on the Pacific coast as well," Mr. Fleishacker said. "The national banks of San Francisco, at the last call of the controller, showed deposits $40,000,000 in excess of the best previous records. There is a state of unprecedented activity going on in the East. The steel corporations cannot begin to fill their orders."

"Along the line of war orders," added the noted banker, "Australia and New Zealand are now getting their supplies of paper from Pacific coast firms, where they used to buy it from Germany. I am vice-president of the Crown-Williamette up & Paper Company, and we are now receiving orders for paper from New Zealand and Australia, which we never got before the war started."

The San Francisco financier, in stating that this is his first trip here, said he has always been attracted toward the islands, and that he and his wife decided to make the trip, and see the territory's scenic grandeur for themselves. The party is staying at the Moana. They leave for Kilauea Thursday.

Mr. Fleishacker owns stock in half a dozen corporations, and is also a director in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company. "From the way things look now with good weather, our attendance should pass the 18,000,000 mark easily before the big fair closes December 4," he said.

Concerning the seamen's act, the noted San Franciscan said businessmen and ship owners are confident it will either be amended or repealed at the coming session of Congress.

NATIONAL GUARD NOTES

Officers of the National Guard of Hawaii who returned on the Wilhelmina today are: Capt. George B. Schrader, Capt. Gustave E. Schaefer, Lieut. Perry Smoot, Lieut. J. L. K. Cushingham and Lieut. Frank Stevenson. All of the officers except Capt. Schrader are members of the rifle team, and all of them are of the 1st Infantry.

Lieut. George Desha, 2nd Infantry, and Sergt. T. J. K. Evans, 1st Infantry, will sail from San Francisco, December 1, they having obtained additional leave in order to spend more time on the mainland. Sergt. W. E. Miles, 1st Infantry, will arrive here November 30 on the Manoa.

Sergt. Albert K. Lucas, Company A, 1st Infantry, has accepted a position with a commission house in New York, and will remain in the East for some time.

the residents of Honolulu to realize that the effects of cocaine are far more damaging than those of liquor or opium.

Traffic is enormous. "The enormity of the traffic going on in Honolulu today is almost unbelievable. The persons who are selling cocaine are dealing in the very souls and bodies of the victims of the drug," he added.

Collector Haley went on to say that indications that the drug being peddled is brought here from the mainland shows how the local physicians and druggists are cooperating with the officials in stamping out the cocaine traffic.

When information concerning Belliveau and Bradley was received by the marshal late yesterday afternoon, he informed Collector Haley, who issued two search warrants. Belliveau's actions were watched, says the marshal, and he was followed about town for a considerable period of time. It is alleged that he assisted in a sale last night whereby a third party received $5 worth of cocaine.

Belliveau and Bradley were taken into custody at the latter's popcorn stand. The marshal says that four large bottles of cocaine were taken from one of Bradley's pockets. Bradley and Belliveau were sent over to Oahu prison and lodged there for the night. A search was then made of Bradley's room, where two bottles of morphine were found, says the marshal, as well as scales and paraphernalia "for disposing of the dope."

Search Doctor's Office

Following an interview with Bradley at the jail, the officers searched the rooms of one Dr. B. Howard at 534 Hotel street, where they "took evidence of his connection with the cocaine ring," as the marshal put it today. This evidence was documentary, the marshal added.

Belliveau was taken to the marshal's office this morning where he was interviewed by Mr. Smiddy and Mr. Johnstone. None of the details of the conference were made public. "Princess Theresa" Belliveau was present, and it was reported that she put her husband through an unusually heavy "third degree." She was visibly peeved when she visited the marshal's office today to "learn all about the affair."

According to Marshal Smiddy, Bradley late today made a practical confession of his association with the traffic, and was committed to Oahu prison to await action by the federal grand jury. Belliveau was released on bond in the sum of $250. His case also will be investigated by the grand jury.

THREE DOZEN BOTTLES OF DRUGS ARE STOLEN AT SCHOFIELD BARRACKS

A new development in the "cocaine ring" probe, in Honolulu came with startling quickness this afternoon when an army physician stationed at Schofield Barracks reported to Captain of Detectives A. McDuffie the theft from the hospital warehouse of 36 bottles of morphine, valued at several hundred dollars.

Captain McDuffie today gave the Star-Bulletin a list of the reported stolen goods as follows:

Eight bottles of heroin, 18 bottles of cocaine hydrochloride and eight one-ounce bottles of morphine.

The detective captain immediately notified the department of internal revenue and the marshal's office. Investigations will be begun at once to ascertain whether or not any of the cocaine and morphine taken in a raid made by the marshal and the revenue officers last night is a part of that stolen from the hospital warehouse at Schofield. According to the marshal's office, the theft at Schofield was made several weeks ago.

LIKED ISLANDS SO WELL BEFORE THEY CAME BACK

A pleasure trip here in 1907 was so delightful to Alden Anderson, former lieutenant-governor of California, in Governor Gillette's term, and Mrs. Anderson, that they determined to come here again. They arrived this morning on the Wilhelmina.

"We are here solely for pleasure and have no other excuse," said Mr. Anderson to a Star-Bulletin reporter while the steamer was coming up the harbor to her dock. "We made a pleasure trip here in 1907, and liked Honolulu so much we are back again to see the islands."

Business has picked up wonderfully in the last few months, according to Mr. Anderson, who should know of what he speaks, as he is a Class A director in Federal Reserve Bank No. 12, at San Francisco, and is president of the Capital National Bank at Sacramento.

"Industry picked up first in the East and now it is gradually coming west," said Mr. Anderson. "Everyone in California is optimistic and satisfied. Money is easy in California—in fact, there is more money than a commercial demand exists for, at present."

RECEPTION TONIGHT AT MILLS SCHOOL FOR DR. AND MRS. WILLIAMS

KINNEY FAVORS JAIL AS PLACE FOR WORST BOYS

School Commissioners and Industrial Schools Board to Consider "Mutiny"

A recommendation that the ring leaders be sent to jail will be made by Henry W. Kinney, superintendent of public instruction, when the Oahu members of the public school commissioners and the members of the industrial schools board meet at 10 o'clock next Saturday morning to investigate the recent "mutiny" at the reform school at Waialeale, which resulted in the escape of 54 inmates.

Mr. Kinney visited the school yesterday, returning late in the afternoon. He made a thorough investigation of the "mutiny" and the escape. Today he sent out notices for the meeting on Saturday morning. He invited the members of the schools board to attend, as they will assume jurisdiction of the reform institutions in about six weeks. The governor also suggested that they be invited.

"There are about 12 young fellows out there at the school who are practically men and who are criminals rather than inmates of a reform institution," said the superintendent today. "They ought to be in jail, and I recommended to Principal H. M. Tucker that they be brought before the proper authorities and eventually placed in prison."

These are among the ones who have been kept in shackles, for the reason that they would run away. These kind of men do not belong in the reform school and I don't like to see shackles used anywhere. They should be placed in the institution where they belong."

Those who will meet in the department's headquarters next Monday morning are Mrs. Theodore Richards and L. G. Blackman, the Oahu commissioners; and Judge William L. Whitney, Bertha Ben Taylor, Father Valentine, Mrs. F. W. Macfarlane, Dr. C. B. Cooper and Prof. A. F. Griffiths, constituting the industrial schools board.

Three Boys Still at Large

Three of the boys who broke from the Boys' Industrial School Sunday are still at large, and search by Superintendent Tucker and the teachers has failed to reveal a trace of them. The boys at large are Hawaiians and are of the type of who were shackled and who broke away from Mrs. Kearns, matron at the school, while the superintendent and teachers were out hunting the rest of the boys.

David Lele and George Kehipa, said to be the ringleaders of the outbreak, are still held in jail, but no charge has been placed against them. Whether they will be accused of assault on John Thennes, one of the teachers, has not been made known.

Asked why he broke from the school one of the boys, who returned with a number who came back of their own accord after the break, told Superintendent H. M. Tucker he did not know why he went.

"The others went, and I went with them," the boy said.

"Weren't you treated well here?" Tucker asked the boy, and the reply was in the affirmative.

"I was treated well enough," another lad told the superintendent, "but the big boys wanted to break out, and we all went with them."

Teachers at the school regard the break as due to the natural spirit of adventure of some of the boys and the bad disposition of others. Some of the older lads, among whom are Lele and Kehipa, are regarded as unruly at the school, and a number of the boys are so unmanageable that they have to wear night chains at times.

PROPOSES PLAN FOR BUILDING NEW SCHOOLS

Superintendent H. W. Kinney of the territorial department of public instruction has written to the mayor and supervisors submitting another school building proposition, which he trusts "follows strictly the interpretation of the law given by the county attorney's department."

"I suggest that out of the present balance for new buildings, Mr. Kinney proceeds, 'the following structures be built forthwith':

"Kalihi, two bungalows and toilet, $1300; Kalihi-waena, one bungalow, $500; Kalihi-uka, one Kaneohe type, $600; Kahuku, two-room Kaneohe type, balance ($500) for part of cottage, $1800; Waimanalo, one toilet, $100—$4300."

He further suggests a schedule for the distribution, the first of the year, of the remainder of the balance then available, $4800, between Kahuku, Manoa, Wailua, Kalihi-uka, Waipahu, Ewa and Moanalua, for various structures.

ENDS WIRELESS TELEPHONE TEST FROM HONOLULU

Lloyd Espenschied, Who Has Been Talking With Arlington, Concludes Experiments; Expects Commercial Future for Scientific Achievement

Concluding his part in the wireless telephone tests which have brought Hawaii to international attention in the last two months, Lloyd Espenschied of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company of New York, is sailing for the mainland this afternoon on the Lurline.

Temporarily the wireless telephone experiments which brought Arlington, Va., and Honolulu into touch by the exchange of the human voice are being discontinued, but in the firm belief of Mr. Espenschied it will not be long until what are now scientific tests will be developed into commercial transactions and the wireless telephone will be an asset in business.

He is taking with him the simple instruments set up at Pearl Harbor through the courtesy and cooperation of the navy officials, and so far a while Honolulu will probably hear no more of the wireless telephone here.

"But something will develop before long to bring this into the commercial field," predicts Espenschied.

Wireless telephone communication was established on the nights of September 29, 30 and October 1, between Arlington station and Honolulu. Since that time there have been further tests.

One of the sensational achievements of Espenschied's experimenting here was the hearing of a conversation by wireless telephone between Arlington and Paris. The Paris station is only a listening station, but Espenschied, at Pearl Harbor, heard all that was said at Arlington. This was late in October.

Espschied gives much praise to the navy officials for their help, and says also that his company is very glad to work with the navy as a patriotic development of science which may some day be extremely valuable to the country.

SPECIAL SCHOOL FOR TUBERCULAR CHILDREN ASKED

Recommending that the city erect by January 1 a new school building to be turned over to the use of tubercular children who have been discharged from other schools of the city, A. N. Sinclair, acting assistant surgeon of the United States public health service, and director of the anti-tuberculosis league, has written to Mayor Lane giving data from investigations made here. The mayor has turned the letter over to the supervisors with special request that it be given consideration at tonight's meeting.

Dr. Sinclair states that at Pohukaina school, Kakaako, six children were recently declared tubercular and discharged. He says that if the general percentage holds good, there are about 100 such children in the entire school population that should be cared for.

He suggests that a new school for the treatment of children affected with tuberculosis be built, containing at least three rooms. Land is available for the building, and Superintendent H. W. Kinney has promised that teachers may be secured for the work.

HILONIAN WILL ARRIVE HERE THREE DAYS LATE

Radio advices received today by Castle & Cooke stated that the Histon freight steamer Hilonian, due here yesterday from Seattle, will not arrive until Thursday morning at daylight.

The Hilonian's delay is believed to be due to the rough weather and high winds which have been prevailing lately in the path of steamers from coast points here. The steamer is bringing a large cargo of Puget Sound freight for local firms.

STAR-BULLETIN NEWSBOYS WILL MARCH TO TRAIN

Will Get Flags to Carry Before Starting for Big Thanksgiving Picnic

Two hundred lively, leather-lunged youngsters, the boys who sell and distribute the Star-Bulletin to its subscribers, are eagerly waiting for Thursday morning to dawn, because that day is the day of the "big feed" at which the paper will entertain its carrier boys and newsmen with a real old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner at the Peninsula.

Every boy will be given a flag and a horn as the start is made from the Star-Bulletin office about 8:30 Thursday morning. The boys have been instructed to assemble in front of the business office on Alakea street, at 8 o'clock. There they will be provided with the flags and the noise-makers, and no one except stone-deaf persons will fail to realize that it is a new-boy picnic when the march begins.

From the office the boys will march to the Oahu Railway station, where a three-car special train will be waiting for them. All the youngsters who have bathing suits are asked to bring them along, because a swim will be one of the day's features. Football and baseball will also be enjoyed, and it will be an all-day outing.

ROSARIANS GLAD TO TAKE PART IN CARNIVAL PLANS

In reply to the invitation of President J. F. C. Hagens of the Carnival, the mail brought word today from Dean Vincent, prime minister of the Royal Rosarians of Portland, Ore., that the Rosarians will take part in making the 1916 Carnival a success.

President Hagens wrote to Prime Minister Vincent that the only obligation he wished to impose on the Rosarians was to have a good time, but that if they cared to take a more active share in the Carnival than that of mere onlookers, a place for them would be reserved on the program. Mr. Vincent's answer follows:

"Your most kind invitation for the Royal Rosarians to participate in your coming Carnival received, and I assure you that the same is sincerely appreciated by the entire membership. As soon as possible, I will write you more definitely as to our plans and am sure that we will be able to cooperate very nicely. Thanking you for the expressions of goodwill contained in your letter and assuring you of our best wishes, I am,

"Most sincerely yours,

"(Signed) DEAN VINCENT.

"Prime Minister."

The Royal Rosarians are an organization of between three and four hundred Portland businessmen. They make yearly excursions paying their own way wherever they go, to establish stronger business ties with and to promote better knowledge of the Rose City. A copy of the tentative Carnival program has been sent them.

ROBBERS TRIED TO PLAY PIRATES OFF VALPARAISO

Six robbers boarded the T. K. K. steamer Kiyo Maru when she was anchored off Valparaiso, Chile, according to First Officer Kunimoto of the ship, due to sail at noon tomorrow from this port for the Orient.

The men climbed up over the rail at 1:30 in the morning, reaching the steamer in small boats from the shore two miles away. A watchman on duty gave the alarm and the Kiyo's sailors succeeded in repelling the attack, although each robber was armed with a rifle and revolver. The Kiyo sailed October 4 from Valparaiso.
